HAPPY NEW YEAR

Winter Break means a well-deserved reprieve from homework and daily obligations. But before you know it, the holidays are over and it is back to the bus stop. To prepare for a smooth re-entry and a successful second semester, don't let school skills like reading, writing and math slide completely during winter break. Try these family-friendly activities to keep skills sharp:

- Read for pleasure – stash your school books and read for fun with your family or alone.
- Cook up an easy lesson – invite your child to help you whip up a “special dish” in the kitchen. Half tablespoons and $\frac{1}{4}$ cup measurements are great practice with fractions.
- Write thank-you notes – penning notes of appreciation to gift-givers teaches gratitude and helps polish writing and spelling skills. Enjoy a mug of hot cocoa while doing it.
- Make the most of car rides –check out license plates to practice letters and numbers.
- Maintain reasonable bedtimes – with no school to get up for in the morning, it can be tempting to let kids become night owls. A few days before school starts again, ease back into the regular bedtime schedule.
- Ask for grocery list assistance – have your child help choose what to buy, decide how much you need, check your supplies to see what you already have and write a list.
- Let kids help with online shopping – need a last-minute gift for someone. Log onto your favorite shopping sites and let your child help you select presents.
- Have a family game night – Board and card games reinforce skills such as counting and reading.

Parents: Any parent that is walking their child into the school or coming to the office in the morning, please park in one of the parking spaces and not in the drop-off lane. So, as to keep the drop-off lane flowing smoothly.

Also, have your children exit the vehicle on the right side, directly on to the sidewalk.
